If anyone from the school comes to your home, make sure everyone is wearing a face mask and stay physically distant from the visitor to avoid spreading or catching the virus.

Schools are offering classes online classes to avoid spreading COVID-19 in the community. Some schools have the option for in person classes if your student qualifies. Call your school to know your options for your child. Most schools are communicating through email. Make sure the school has your current email, home address, phone number, and emergency contact information.

Even though some schools are not open for in-person classes, it is still very important for your children to attend classes online! Your involvement is very important for the success of your child. You can contact your school district for more information on how to register your child for online classes. It is important that you understand what your choices are for your child's education. Some schools have an enrollment period when you can enroll your child. Many schools are providing laptops to students. Let the school know if you don't have access to the internet and they may be able to help you access affordable internet in your home.

Even though classes are online it is very important that your child attends class every day. If your child continuously misses online school, he or she may be unenrolled from school and you will have to re-enroll them.

If your child has an Individualized Education Program (IEP) you should call your school to find out how the plan is being implemented. Some children with an IEP are eligible for in person school.

When the number of people who are sick from COVID-19 decreases in the community, some schools will open for in-person classes. They may open for classes every day or just a couple of days a week. However, these schools might go back to only online education if many people start to get sick from COVID-19 again.

Before students can go back to school in person, families may have to sign waivers.

When your child goes back to school in person, they may be required to wear a face mask at school. Face masks prevent the virus from leaving the mouth or nose and infecting other people. It is very important to teach your child the correct way to wear a mask. Children under the age of 2 years old should never wear a mask.

Schools will have rules for physical distancing that your child will have to follow. Ask your school what those rules are.

Your child should not go to school if they are sick with a fever of more than 100.4 degrees F / or have a cough, congested nose, sore throat, or fatigue. If your child becomes sick you should
